

Star Knowledge Technology Alliance Team LLC adds database performance services and products to solution portfolio through a partnering agreement with Soaring Eagle Consulting, Inc.

Pompano Beach, Florida – Monday, September 19, 2011 – Star Knowledge Technology Alliance Team LLC a global software and solution services provider today announced a strategic partnership with Soaring Eagle Consulting, Inc, a Tampa Florida-based consulting and technology services company to extend their technical services offerings with database performance and tuning services and products.

Star Knowledge offer innovative and cost effective customized software development and support services that assist organizations achieve their business goals and attain or maintain competitive market advantage. Through technology-based services and solutions, Star Knowledge enables customers to fully exploit their technology investments for rapid business transformation and success.

Soaring Eagle, offers specialized database consulting services and world-class database performance tools. They offer end to end solutions including: performance based architecture design, database performance audits and tuning, training, and staffing services as well as highly-tailored custom database projects.

In the current business environment data are flooding in at rates never seen before - doubling almost every 18 months—as a result of greater access to customer data from public, proprietary, and purchased sources, as well as new information gathered from Web and social media communities and newly deployed smart assets. In this data intense setting many private as well as public organizations are leveraging and exploiting data use to new levels, using it to support rigorous, constant business experimentation that guides more effective and timely decisions and to model and test new products, business concepts, and innovations in the customer experience. Notwithstanding the availability and innovative use of advanced database software and solutions to handle the increased data velocity there still is the very important need for databases to be proactively maintained at optimum performance levels by highly trained technical personnel. Over the last fourteen years, Soaring Eagle has helped countless companies through-out the US maintain their databases at the highest performance levels with preventive and corrective database technical services.

Kevin M. O’Sullivan, Chairman of Star Knowledge stated – “We believe that partnering with Soaring Eagle will immediately enrich our services portfolio and will unquestionably amplify our customer value proposition with the addition of world-class database services and products”.

“We are eagerly anticipating adding Star Knowledge’s depth of application development experience, particularly in mobile environments, to the offerings we’re currently bringing our clients on a world-wide basis” stated Jeffrey Garbus CEO and founder of Soaring Eagle.
