

Star-Knowledge Business Solutions

Star-Knowledge offers a full spectrum of open source and commercial business software solutions for replacement of legacy systems and introduction of additional business capabilities.

We help our customers identify and capitalize on their critical business opportunities by using our knowledge, experience, and insight to exploit and leverage existing and emerging technologies to retain or maintain their market competitiveness.

We provide Star-Knowledge and Partner Solutions in the below categories:

- Open Solutions
- Focus Solutions
- Emerging Solutions

Open Solutions

Open source software have come a long way from an image of risky, ineffective and cheap and have evolved into globally-acclaimed high-value applications. Open source solutions significantly impact organizational users with their continued success as easy-to-deploy, cost-effective and readily-available tools for customers.

Currently, numerous enterprise type open source business applications exist for most businesses that have the technical resources to successfully implement and customize, the knowledge to use, and the infrastructure and skill sets to provide appropriate ongoing support the application.

Star-Knowledge offers a portfolio of open source business software templates whose underlying source code is published and made available to the public, enabling anyone to copy, modify and redistribute the source code without paying royalties or fees.

To engineer these open source templates into bona fide business applications we provide customized software development services and integration of 'Application Extensions' that provide module-structured functional capabilities that extend the richness of the base open source template.

Focus Solutions

Successful companies require access to high-value business application that gets the job done quickly, correctly, without problems all the time! Whether you're in a start-up mode or you're looking to significantly improve performance and productivity Star-Knowledge has an array of focus business solutions designed to help you meet your requirements within a limited budget.

Our focus solutions portfolio consists of functionally-rich business applications that Star-Knowledge and our Partners have successfully developed and implemented in real customer situations. We provide a full suite of customized development, implementation, and support services to assist customers quickly realize the benefits from successfully deploying the focus solutions.

Emerging Solutions

Star-Knowledge is continually searched a wide spectrum of industries and verticals including aerospace, communications, defense, government, healthcare, and information technology to uncover technologies that we believe will have a significant impact on the way business will be conducted in the near and long term. We partner with vendors who typically are unknown but have developed advanced and innovative business software products and solutions. Star-Knowledge assists these partners promote, sell, customize, and implement their software solutions.

We support the sale of all emerging solutions with a full suite of software development and support services provided by Star-Knowledge and the selling vendor.